

Knox Presbyterian is a congregation of the oldest Presbyterian and Reformed Church in Australia and began in 1987. However, our Melbourne history goes back to the earliest days, our denomination in Victoria being founded in 1846 by Melbourne's first official Christian minister, Rev James Forbes (1813-51).

Feel free to explore our site; feedback is welcome. New articles are added regularly.

The building of the Knox congregation.

Some of our congregation

The Knox congregation meets at 358 Mountain Highway (corner of Thaxted Parade) Wantirna. Wantirna is a suburb of Melbourne 25 km east of the city. The church is 3 km south of Ringwood Railway Station, a major hub, and arrangements can be made for those who are unable to attend.

You are warmly invited to worship with us.

Also extension centre:

All Nations Presbyterian Church
91 Tiverton Drive, Mulgrave

To view an interactive map showing our location click here. (This may take some time to load if you are on a dial-up connection).

Sunday Worship Services at Knox:

-

10am from 6 January 2013

-

Following the service tea/coffee is available.

-

5:00 pm from 1 January 2012

Services also at Mulgrave: All Nations, 91 Tiverton Drive

-

11:00 am beginning 7 June 2009 (English) 2.30pm (Nuer)

-

See All Nations congregation at www.pcea.org.au/allnations/

Minister:

Revd. Andres Miranda

Minister (retired):

Revd. Dr. Rowland S Ward

Minister - All Nations:

Revd. Tut Wan Yoa